

there is small blame to Mr. Loeb to kick, and maybe kick more. I do not use this to Mrs. Young as a reproach, but what about our children?

Will you, Mr. Shoop, Mr. Loeb, members of the board of education, try to make the passage between the cradle and the grave a bit easier for our children than it has been for us?

I understand that an examination is coming up for teachers of manual training on Dec. 27. Will you, Mr. Loeb, put a stop to selection of women carpenters into the public system?—Jas. Shallow, Union Carpenter.

BLAME PEOPLE.—No, "Descend- of '76," we should not blame the mayor nor the police. We should blame the people who elect such men to office!

For goodness' sake haven't all the people on "God's green earth" a right to it, especially the workers who create all the wealth? Pretty soon the earth will become so monopolized by a few that we'll be told to get off of it entirely and then I suppose the only place will be in the earth.

How did the clothing hogs, or, in fact, all the hogs in every industry, work up? You will probably be told that they started as poor newsboys or something of the sort. Why can't anybody work up that way now? Too many hogs! They worked up by skinning others—through the sweat of others.

Wake up, everyone of you, and elect such men as will stand by you—a Kennedy, a Rodriguez! A few others are all right, too, but heavens, don't put good wine in a rotten barrel! Change the skinning system, abolish profits and I'll have a right to be on this beautiful mother earth of ours!—Garment Strikers' Wife.

ANOTHER DOLLAR.—I send another dollar to augment the garment workers' strike fund. I don't know what you think about it, but I send a little letter once in a while, to The Day Book Forum in favor of humanitarianism and am in earnest, too. The dollar I am sending has the pictures of Abraham Lincoln and Grant on it and I send it to help out the utterly oppressed, the same as either of these great men would do were they living, especially honest old Abe.—A Forum Writer.

ETHICS.—The barons of politics, science and religions do not want the dear people to exercise individuality because it eventually means the masses would practice their own law, medicine and religions. This would never do because the barons would be ruined. They would be reduced to the ranks and that is what they fear.

Do you notice how the medical trust is trying to rob Dr. Haiselden of all his rights in the medical profession because he dared to be honest with us common folks and tell us what we earnestly seek to know and discuss? The medical trust fears the loss of its power and they are trying to keep away from a free people the individuality they earnestly seek. They refuse to let us become good mixers. They reserve to themselves a monopoly of medical knowledge.

Is there any worse aristocracy on earth than the medical trust, dominated by an old school of old fossils who should die with the Bollinger baby and release an enslaved world from its bondage?

The world wants good mixers like Dr. Haiselden, Margaret Sanger, Dr. Ben Reichman and other progressives to step out from the ranks of the medical profession and throw off the shackles of "established medical ethics" until humanity becomes free. Oh, you old mossbacks! Your Waterloo is slowly approaching. The people will not stand for your monopolizing all medical knowledge much longer. We are wise to the fact that you are a caste in our midst and that the government will allow you to receive certain books of sexual
